Only a baby, with tiny ears,
And feet and hands so small:
On life seems so strange that baby will grow
And soon be large and tall.
Only a baby, with baby ways.
And beautiful smooth white brow;
Oh! I hope the baby will ever be
As beautiful as she is now.

Chinese Cheap Labor.

[Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.] In front of a restaurant on south C street there is a pile of about two cords of wood, mostly guarled oak and cedar roots. It has been lying there several days, and during that time a withered Chinaman has been worrying away at the wood with axe and eaw. The grain of the wood twists and doubles in itself more than the track of the Virginia and Truckee railroad. For the first two days the poor Chinaman mauled the splinters off the wood with remarkable perseverance and patience, but yesterday he broke down, and, dropping the exe, overflowed with Mongolian profanity for ten minutes. He doesn't propose to be beaten, however, and to-day he began sawing the wood lengthwise instead of crosswise, and is making some progress-not much, of course, but, compared with his previous efforts, he bowls along like a clipper-ship before a spanking breeze. In another week he will have finished the job. "How muchee, John?" asked one of the superior race. "Two dollah hap." "Worth twenty-five dollars," remarked three bystanders at once.

VIRTUE OF THE TOMATO-LEAVES .- A statement comes from South America that a singular property of tomato-leaves has been discovered by a fruit-grower. Having cut down some tomato-vines, he used them as a mulch around his peach-trees. He soon discovered that the curculio, which was destroying his fruit, had abandoned the tree surrounded by the tomato-vines. Following up this accidental discovery, the free use of tomato-vines proved a perfect protection not only against curculio, but other noxious in-cets. He found, also, by steeping in water some fresh leaves of the tomato, and sprinkling the infusion upon other plants, the unnumerable insects which covered them were driven away. Some gardeners have tried the above remedy, some by accident and others by intention, and their success was remarkable. One gentleman had his apple-trees ravaged by the curculio until last year, when he secured a splendid crop. He knows of no cause for his exemption from the curculio except the tomatoplants that were grown from the first among bis trees .- Alexandria Gazette.

Occasionally you will meet a young man who gets on the train somewhere in Ohio, and when some fellow-passenger asks him bow far he is going, he will say "Omaha" in the tone of a brakeman calling a station, and then look up and down the car to observe the amazement and awe of the other passengers, and you will notice that he looks a little bit disappointed because they do not take off their hats and ask to shake hands with him, and want to know where he comes from and all about him. But by and by when he learns from casual remarks o'clock of 100 barrels PRIME NORTHERN PEERLESS POdropped carelessly now and then, that the man behind him is going to San Francisco and the one in front of him is going to Japan, and the old fellow on the other side of the sisle is just returning from St. Petersburg, the young man drops his voice to a husky whisper, shrinks down into his duster so that no one can see him, and tells the next man who asks him about it that he is only going out here a little ways.-Hawk-
